

Photo: Stephen Moore

Mayfly nymphs use gills to breathe. The gills take oxygen from the water as the water passes over the gills.

Breathing - mayfly nymph